

IN OGDEN'S SOCIETY CIRCLES

Mrs. Celia Ford Hawley.

OGDEN COUPLE WEDDED.
Miss Celia Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Ford was married to Charles L. Hawley last Sunday at the home of Reverend Carver. The bride was attended by Miss Mildred F. Lawrence as bridesmaid and the best man was T. S. Shaughnessy. The bride was prettily gowned in white crepe de chine with real lace trimmings and the bridesmaid wore salmon satin. Mr. and Mrs. Hawley departed for a honeymoon trip to Los Angeles and other California points of interest and will be at home to their friends in this city at 2612 Lincoln avenue after January 1.

GOLDEN WEDDING FITTINGLY CELEBRATED.

The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Angus McKay of Huntsville, was celebrated last evening by a wedding supper at their son's, D. D. McKay's home. The colors, gold and white prevailed and large yellow chrysanthemums were used in the rooms, and on the long table, with its long yellow silk runners, and candles with yellow shades.

Twenty sat down to supper, sons and daughters of the couples and their escorts. In the center of the table reposed the wedding cake with fifty roses upon it.

A reception was held in Peterson's hall, which was beautifully decorated in yellow and white and a large golden bell suspended to the invitations issued.

Some of the outside guests were: Mrs. and Mrs. S. A. Barnes, West Weber; Mr. and Mrs. John McFarland, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Emley, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Christie, Mr. and Mrs. D. O. McKay, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. E. McKay, Mrs. David Eccles, Mrs. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Jost, Mr. and Mrs. P. Sorensen, Mr. and Mrs. Eccles, Miss L. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Wilson, Miss Ellen Wilson, Dr. and Mrs. Stevens, Salt Lake; Mr. and Mrs. J. McKay, Mr. Harry Grow, Canada; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wadley, Provo; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Barnes, Hooper; Mr. Hunter, Mrs. Edvalson, Mr. and Miss Chambers, Miss McFarland, Mrs. Anna Olsen, Mr. and Mrs. Levi J. Taylor, Mr. Angus McKay, Willard McKay.

The Nichols' orchestra furnished the music, which was delightful, and mostly old fashioned dances were thoroughly enjoyed by old and young. Refreshments were served by the small granddaughters of the couple, Edris Christy, May McFarland, Mildred McKay, Carol and Eva Barnes. Talks were given by David O. McKay, John Chambers, G. Hunter and Levi Taylor. Old songs were sung, "Silver Threads Among the Gold," Mrs. Alma Petersen and Angus McFarland, "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," "The Songs My Mother Used to Sing," Mr. Jack Christy, "The Old Grey Bonnet," Mark Barnes, "Annie Laurie," Mrs. D. D. McKay. Two recitations were read, one by Mrs. J. R. Morrill, and Mrs. William Burrows as follows:

TO DEAR AUNT ENA AND UNCLE ANGUS.
Ho, Father Time! Roll back the years,
Take fifty from our sight;
Erase all sorrow, pain and tears,
Return our youth—tonight.

See, entering there, the bride and groom,
With faith and love and hope.
Enough to pierce through dearest gloom,
With fiercest foes to cope;

Surrounded by their youthful friends
And those they love the best,
They plight their troth, while music lends
Enchantment's solemn zest.

Congratulations friends now shower
Upon the blushing bride
And bridegroom—manly—full of power—
There standing at her side.

They toast and drink peace, joy and health,
To these at Life's great door,
They wish prosperity and wealth,
And love forever more.

Again sweet strains of music rise,
And dainty, slithered feet
Respond, 'til the sun in eastern skies
Demands a fair retreat.

Once more, "Long life! Good luck to you!"
From loyal sincere friends—

While old Sol spreads his blessing
The marriage feast day ends.

And so this bride and groom have gone
From that bright day to this!
Experience, gaunt and pale and wan
Has come to mar their bliss.

But through it all, eternal love
Has been their guiding star!
Their eyes—they've lifted far above,
And Heaven has not seemed far.

Tonight we're bidden once again—
Beloved old friends and new,
To pledge as some of us did the
Long life and love ere true.

So here's to the fair blushing bride
And groom of fifty years!
May they still journey side by side
'Til a fairer dawn appears.

J. M. M.
December 14, 1916.

A GOLDEN WEDDING.
Fifty long years, (just the beginning)
Of that eternal bliss,
Covenanted on earth,
And sealed with a kiss.

Your love has been sacred
To each other, you're true,
God is pleased with your actions,
He has smiled upon you.

In the spring time of life,
With our hopes all aglow;
It is easy to love
When no troubles we know.

To love one another,
Through thick and through thin;
To know this world troubles
And feel poverty sting.

Is a very great effort
To some of us here,
In the hurry of life,
We slough the ones dear.

Still working and hoping,
And making life bright,
With your noble example,
Of living life right.

Just think what it means,
One eternal round,
Of living and loving
In one lasting bond.

May the bright sun of peace,
Shine upon you each day,
And crown you with glory,
That knows no decay.

—MRS. WM. H. BURROWS.

BEAUTIFULLY APPOINTED AFTERNOON TEA.

The most auspicious event of the week was the afternoon tea given by Mrs. Thos. Carr and her daughter, Miss Viola Carr, at their home, 2520 Jefferson avenue. The affair was given in honor of Mrs. Edmund Eugene Carr, a November bride and was attended by nearly one hundred and fifty ladies.

The Carr home was very beautifully decorated for the event. In the reception hall a small Christmas tree, artistically decorated, was placed and streamers of smilax and fern were arranged in a very pretty manner. In the parlors a color scheme of yellow and green prevailed with huge chrysanthemums and smilax combined in artistic arrangement. In the dining room the decorations were especially effective. The Christmas idea was perfectly carried out with tiny varicolored lights entwined with smilax and red ribbon radiating from the corners of the room to a lovely bow of maline in the center. On the tea table was an exquisite cutglass basket of red tea roses and smilax, tied with bows of red ribbon.

During the afternoon the following ladies poured: Mr. Parley Taylor Wright, Mrs. A. R. McIntyre, Mrs. E. M. Conroy, Mrs. D. C. Eccles, Miss Alberta Wright, Miss Lillian Wright, Miss Katherine Hoag, Miss Gertrude Weatherly, Little Miss Martha Wright daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wright, received cards at the door and the Misses Marvel Cave June Higginbotham and Drangy Holthaus assisted. The Reeve's orchestra furnished a program of delightful musical numbers during the afternoon.

Very tempting refreshments were served.

DINNER DANCE GUESTS.

At the Maids' and Matrons' club dinner dance last Monday afternoon and evening the following entertained guests at dinner:
Mrs. Fred M. Nye entertained eighteen guests at dinner. The table was attractive with a miniature Christmas tree, adorned with lovely gifts for each guest, as the centerpiece. From the branches of the tree to each guest's place were streamers of red ribbon. Attractive little favors were given by the hostess.

Mr. Abbott Glick entertained four guests at dinner and Royal Eccles was host to six guests. The tables were prettily decorated with roses. A pretty luncheon party was sponsored by Mrs. Laurence Dee and Miss Helen Perkins, twelve guests being seated at the table. Mr. and Mrs. Binford were host and hostess to several guests and Mrs. P. F. Kirkendall entertained six guests.

During the afternoon the Thatcher orchestra furnished a program of delightful musical numbers which was thoroughly enjoyed, by all present.

FOR BRIDE OF WEEK.

A very pretty party was held at the home of Mrs. W. H. Ranson last Thursday evening in honor of Mrs.

Ida Ranson Carlisle. The affair was a parcel shower for the bride and many lovely gifts were received. During the evening vocal and instrumental music was enjoyed. Mrs. Walt Lloyd gave a number of delightful selections. At 11 o'clock the hostess assisted by her daughter, Miss Stella Ranson, served a delicious luncheon, covers being laid for the following guests: Mesdames Planz, Best, Grix, Griffin, Lloyd, Huss, Miller, L. Long, C. Long, Williams, Nagus, H. Day, D. Turner, Crites, W. J. Myers, Christina Burch, Mrs. W. Lloyd, Mrs. A. Collins, Miss Margaret Crites and Miss Grace Crites. Mrs. Carlisle was tendered some very lovely pieces of china ware, cut glass and silverware.

TEMPERANCE IN EATING.

(By John B. Huber, A. M., M. D.)
By the time the average citizen has reached middle life he is supposed to have stored up sufficient energy to carry him through the remainder of his days in good health. Yet in many cases this is not so, because the system has been overstrained by too hearty indulgence in both foods and alcoholic drinks. During early adult life the system is strong enough to counteract, up to a certain point, intemperance in eating and drinking; but by such courses the body is not storing up the energy it should. And so, when middle life is reached health is not all it should be. For these reasons a man or a woman of 45 should not drink and eat as heartily as during the younger years; and the less one eats when he arrives at 50 the healthier he will be.

Having a splendid appetite in youth and early maturity we indulge it, disregarding the fact that we need only a certain amount of nourishment, and that whatever we eat above that adds to the bulk that should be got rid of; after fifty the food taken should be just enough to keep us going and not so much as will clinker up the system, producing the ailments just mentioned. The middle aged can do very well with meat once a day and no alcohol; will actually enjoy life better in every way for such abstinence or temperance. One will have a clearer mind, a more active body, if he takes only what is required to keep up a fair weight; and this should be the test.

COMMERCIAL CLUB GIVES VAUDEVILLE.

Provo, Dec. 15.—The Commercial club vaudeville revue presented in the Columbia theatre tonight drew an immense house. The big audience enjoyed immensely the fine entertainment, consisting of minstrelsy and vaudeville features, new, novel and startling, all presented by local talent, fifty people taking part. William M. Wilson, who has managed the big affair, received many compliments for the unqualified success of his efforts. The show goes again tomorrow night.
